. Nowadays people want to find the best place for living often they need to change place of residence. let's see if there is something positive about that.

. People who change their life are powerful, strong and advantereous. They put themselves in situation, which is new, by doing this, they learn how to live in the new enviroment and get experience. Most of people want to be successful, ~~that~~ the only way that lead to this is improving of ~~ce~~ your lifestyle. For example, my mom had been working as office manager for ten years. She had lived in apartment, which was located a lot far from city centre. Over 2 years she got an offer from a big company, which suggested my mom to be a general director. She accepted that. But there was one condition, which was the nessesarity to move to another town, of course, my mom agreed, because the salary seem to be twice bigger, so she could afford a lot more stuff.

Obviously changing place and career can lead your life to better if it's not positive changing, for instance, you are forced to leave your home, because you are broke and unable to pay. Usually people take on new job and place, when they are certain the future life.

Nowadays more and more people change their careers and places of residence. The world is developing, so are we. And that is why.

To my mind in the XXI st, century everyone should be a psychic to look in to the future. Nobody knows what it hides. Life frequently gives us circumstances to live in is difficult. That may happen with career or any other part of life. That is the reason people change their lives.

People have to be mobile. The situation of our lives is developing every single day. You don't know what is about to happen that is why you should keep your eyes wide open. Sometimes you have to change your way of living, sometimes you have to change the place of living.

By changing your typical way of living you learn more about life, you get knowledge. To live means to learn that's why I think it is a positive development.

Maybe one day I will have to change my life that way and I will be happy to learn more, to try myself in a different job, to express myself in a new way. Life goes on and on.

Life is too short. Physically we couldn't do all things that we want to do. But also life is about developing ourselves. ~~Be~~ Your quality of life depends on it. What job will you get, ~~what~~ where will you live.

My opinion is that changing careers of places of residence several times a life is a good development, because sometimes you feelt very bad in your everyday ussuall life. Day in day out you need to do the same things. Go to the job, come back to your home. Constantly same things. Changing a career or places of residence ~~to~~ can help you in your life. You can find new people, or make your skill higher.

I think. this is a positive development

Friquently changing something in life is the best option not to be bored doing something one during whole life. Of course, some peoples don't like changes at all, but changes - is the one way to find what do you really like (house, work, etc)

On the other side of coin, changing career is bad. At least because changing career don't guarantee that you'll be luck to find job what you'll like.

In the world we have situations, when peoples unluck to find the job, and eventually they become broke.

Beside this, everything, what peoples change in lifes is good not to sit on one place whole life.
